A Feature Event of the East Tennessee History Fair

Saturday, August 17, 2019 | Clinch Ave. in Downtown Knoxville

9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

(Knoxville, TN) Don't miss Downtown Knoxville's only antiques fair! As part of the 12th Annual East Tennessee History Fair, the region's best antique dealers will set up along Clinch Ave. behind the History Center to sell their wares. Items include early-period furniture, pottery, quilts, firearms, rare books, primitives, tabletop items, glassware, and more. No admission fee, so come on down and browse!

In addition, visitors shouldn't miss the Friends of ETHS booth inside the auditorium of the East Tennessee History Center. The Friends have been gathering a variety of items to raise funds in support of ETHS collections acquisitions and artifact conservation.

Want to learn more about antiques? Antiques specialists David Case, Merikay Waldvogel, and James Hooper will lead a special museum tour from 10 a.m.-12 p.m., highlighting characteristics and back stories of specific pieces throughout the Museum of East Tennessee History, such as quilts, furniture, pottery, and baskets.

The East Tennessee Antique Fair is sponsored by Building Systems Technology and Case Antiques.
